Simple Ways to Honor Independence Day

Many folks love to participate in large national celebrations for Independence Day, but you can have an equally fun and festive experience right in your own backyard. Here are some activities you can plan with your family and neighbors.

A "TWO LIGHTS FOR TOMORROW" EVENT

At dusk, light two lamps in your window to commemorate Paul Revere's famous 1775 ride, when he warned that the British were coming. One lamp will honor the past; the other will symbolize the future.

PLANT YOUR OWN LIBERTY TREE

Join with your neighbors to plant a Liberty Tree. Whether you choose a maple, oak or a favorite native species, it will become a shared symbol of resilience, growth and hope in your community for generations.

A NEIGHBORHOOD POTLUCK

Invite your neighbors for an Independence Day social. It doesn't have to be elaborate. Hot dogs and burgers on the grill are as American as, well... apple pie. Invite your neighbors to contribute a favorite dish. The important thing is to celebrate and spend time together.

CREATE A TIME CAPSULE

Your family or friends group can contribute artifacts of daily life or cherished memories, and store them in a safe or a cedar chest, not to be opened for 50 years. It might include letters to descendants, grocery receipts, the front page of your local newspaper or any other items that represent this moment in time for you.

Here's to an Independence Day filled with good company, small traditions and big smiles — right here at home!

American Independence at 250

As we celebrate the 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, it's worth asking: What does independence mean today? Back in 1776, it meant standing up to a king and writing a bold declaration. That document is now displayed in a room where tourists shuffle through whispering, "Is that the real one?"

INDEPENDENCE IN MODERN AMERICAN LIFE

Two and a half centuries later, independence still means freedom, now with a modern twist. It's the right to debate whether a hot dog counts as a sandwich. It's having fifty states that can't quite agree on pizza styles yet cooperating when it truly matters.

A BIG, DIVERSE NATION

Independence today means appreciating the freedoms we enjoy while continuing to build a stronger future together. It's a reminder that the United States is a large and diverse family—sometimes imperfect, yet united in community, adversity, and celebration — fireworks and all.

A MOMENT TO CELEBRATE

At 250, the U.S.A. gets to take stock of everything it's achieved: music, movies, road trips, national parks and a remarkable ability to reinvent itself. This anniversary lets reflect and appreciate the important ideals of liberty and democracy, as well as the everyday joys of living in a country that's both ambitious and delightfully quirky.

Skimmer Scams

Scammers are creative, you have to give them that. They constantly invent new ways to separate us from our money. One recent story making the rounds online involves a task we all do regularly: pumping gas.

According to the rumor, a thief inserts a tiny screw into the nozzle cradle on a gas pump. When you finish fueling and return the nozzle, it supposedly doesn't fully disengage, leaving the transaction open.

After you drive away, the scammer can continue pumping gas into another vehicle—on your dime.

The good news? This particular scam appears to be a hoax. That said, there are plenty of real scams to watch for whenever you use a credit card.

Credit card skimmers: These devices can be attached to payment terminals to steal card information and PIN numbers. Learn the warning signs and inspect card readers before using them.

Helpful strangers: If someone approaches after you've finished pumping gas and offers to replace the nozzle for you, decline. A scammer may try to keep the transaction active and add fuel purchases to your bill.

Self-checkout stations: Before scanning your items, make sure the screen is clear and no previous transaction remains open.

Stay alert! A little awareness goes a long way to protecting your wallet.

We first noticed Jason Momoa in the series "Stargate Atlantis" (2005-2009), then in "Conan the Barbarian" (2011), and finally in "Aquaman" (2018). Twenty-five films later, there's no doubt he's a superstar. He's completed six films currently awaiting release.

Jason Momoa and Adria Arjona (Upcoming in "Man of Tomorrow")

The first is "Supergirl," led by Milly Alcock with David Corenswet as Superman, opening June 26. In October, "Street Fighter" arrives, with Momoa co-starring alongside Noah Centineo and Curtis "50 Cent" Jackson. Then there's "Dune: Part Three," opening Dec. 18. He's also joining Andy Samberg in the action-comedy "Protecting Jared."

Momoa's confirmed to star in the next "Superman" film, "Man of Tomorrow," with Corenswet, Nicholas Hoult, Rachel Brosnahan and Nathan Fillion, set for July 2027. He's also preparing to shoot "A Minecraft Movie Squared" with Jack Black and Kirsten Dunst for a July 2027 release. (The original "Minecraft Movie" cost $150 million and made $961.2 million.)

Momoa was married to Lisa Bonet from 2017-2020, but they officially divorced in 2024. They have a daughter, 18, and a son, 17. Momoa's now dating Adria Arjona, who starred in "Emerald City" (2017), "Father of the Bride" (2022) and "Hit Man" (2023).

Arjona is now shooting the action-thriller "Onslaught" with Dan Stevens, opening in September. She also has "The Thomas Crown Affair" with Michael B. Jordan and Lily Gladstone, "Man of Tomorrow" with Momoa, "Alpha Gang" with Cate Blanchett, Chris Pine and Dave Bautista, and the erotic thriller "Scorn" with Kingsley Ben-Adir.

Here's a Tip

by JoAnn Derson

If you drop an egg, sprinkle with salt before you attempt to clean it up. The salt binds the whites, which will not spread, making pickup easier!

You can sharpen scissors by cutting folded aluminum foil into small strips.

Traveling and need to water your plants? Set them in the tub with a large bucket filled with water. Run a piece of cotton rope, clothesline, or microfiber cloth from the water container into each plant. The wick will slowly draw water into the soil.

Snap a photo of your refrigerator before vacation so you know what food is waiting at home.

Taking a photo of your fridge before grocery shopping is the ultimate hack to prevent buying duplicate items and stop food waste. Open all doors and drawers to get a complete view.

Place a few grains of uncooked rice in a salt shaker to prevent clumping.

Celebration Pet Safety

For many people, fireworks are a highlight of Independence Day celebrations. For pets, however, the loud noises, flashing lights and unfamiliar activity can be frightening and stressful.

Animal shelters often report an increase in lost pets around the Fourth of July, as startled dogs and cats attempt to escape yards, fences and even homes. To keep your pets safe, bring them indoors before fireworks begin and make sure all doors, windows and pet doors are secure.

Create a calm, comfortable space in a quiet room. Closing curtains or blinds can reduce flashes of light, while a television, fan or soft music can help mask the sound of fireworks. Make sure your pet has access to water, favorite toys and a comfortable place to rest. If your pet is especially anxious, speak with your veterinarian in advance about calming products or medications that may help.

It's also a good idea to check that identification tags are current and that microchip information is up to date, just in case your pet gets loose. A little preparation can make the holiday safer and less stressful for your four-legged family members, allowing everyone to enjoy the celebration.

Q: Is there going to be another season of "Only Murders in the Building" soon? I think it usually comes out in August. --L.F.

A: Yes! Steve Martin, Martin Short and Selena Gomez are reportedly filming their sixth season of "Only Murders in the Building," with a planned release on Hulu most likely for September. In the upcoming season, the trio of true-crime podcasters will be relocating to London, but it's uncertain how much will take place across the pond.

Variety and other showbiz news outlets recently announced the supporting cast, which include a third Martin, Martin Freeman ("Fargo"); actress/pop star/Spice Girl Geri Halliwell-Horner; Jamie Demetriou ("The Afterparty"); Anjana Vasan ("Killing Eve"); Jane Horrocks ("Absolutely Fabulous"); Derek Jacobi ("Good Omens"); and Lesley Nicol ("Downton Abbey").

While most of those names might not ring a bell, they're all fantastic character actors. They join the previously announced list of supporting actors, which included Jennifer Saunders ("Absolutely Fabulous"), Sean Teale ("Doctor Odyssey"), Simone Ashley ("Bridgerton"), and Matthew Beard ("Avenue 5").

Our favorite Arconia resident, Michael Cyril Creighton, will be returning as Howard, and Variety also reported that Oscar winner Da'Vine Joy Randolph ("The Holdovers"), who recurs as Detective Williams, has also been seen on set in the United Kingdom. As much as we love the idea of London as a backdrop, hopefully we'll see more of our favorite tenants back in Manhattan.

National Ice Cream Day

JULY 19, 2026

National Ice Cream Day is Sunday, July 19. First introduced in 1984, this annual event is the perfect opportunity to make the most of summer by indulging in a celebratory scoop with family and friends.

This beloved treat appeals to everyone from children and teenagers to adults and seniors. Whether it's soft or hard, traditional vanilla, strawberry or a more "out-there" flavor like cotton candy, the taste of ice cream is always reminiscent of sunshine and vacation. You can also savor it served in a bowl, as a sandwich, in a cake, in a coffee or as a milkshake. The possibilities are endless.

Those with a sweet tooth can satisfy their cravings with generously topped sundaes, banana splits or decadent cones adorned with crunchy nuts, colorful candies or seasonal fruits, to name a few possibilities. And don't forget the many dips—whether you choose chocolate, hazelnut, praline or some other tasty confection, it'll tantalize your taste buds from the very first bite.

Ice cream shops are an essential—and tasty—part of the summer landscape. Celebrate this delicious day by visiting your favorite ice cream spot and enjoy!

Green living

Turning trash into treasures

An increasing number of environmentally conscious companies are finding innovative ways to turn waste into valuable new products while reducing the burden on landfills.

Here in Arizona, several businesses are helping lead the way. Recycled City collects food scraps from homes and businesses throughout the Valley and transforms them into nutrient-rich compost that supports local farms and gardens. Similarly, Arizona Green Guys helps divert organic waste from landfills and puts those materials to beneficial use.

Landscape debris is also getting a second life. Tank's Green Stuff converts tree trimmings, yard waste and other green materials into compost, mulch and soil amendments to be used by homeowners, landscapers and growers. Artificial Grass Recyclers focuses on reclaiming and recycling artificial turf materials. Construction waste is another growing focus. Olgin Efune Recycling Company works to recover materials from construction and demolition sites, including wood, metal, concrete and drywall, helping keep tons of debris out of Arizona landfills each year.

Even old tires can become useful again. Tire recycling operations throughout the state process worn-out tires into crumb rubber used in athletic surfaces, playgrounds and road construction materials.

These efforts demonstrate that yesterday's waste can become tomorrow's resource. By finding new uses for discarded materials, companies are conserving natural resources, reducing landfill waste and creating a more sustainable future for everyone.

Do you care about the future of the planet? Look for businesses in your area that promote waste recovery and support them whenever you can by purchasing their products and services.
