Local organizations

A strong COMMUNITY makes the season bright

VOLUNTEERING AND DONATIONS

As the holidays approach, support local community organizations!

With increasingly pressing social issues and limited funding, community organizations need you more than ever. During the festive season, a time of sharing and kindness, your volunteer work and donations make a truly significant impact.

In practical terms, giving your time as a volunteer creates several positive results for organizations, including:

- Reduced operating costs
- Less pressure on staff
- Improved project efficiency

Supporting organizations through donations—both monetary gifts and material goods like food and clothing—is equally crucial.

Thanks to your generosity:

- Programs can be better tailored to the community's needs
- Spaces can be made more welcoming to reduce the isolation of the people they serve
- Social cohesion among all citizens is improved

Want to bring comfort to vulnerable people and make a difference this holiday season? Visit the websites of your local community organizations or reach out in person.

Why Shop Local for the Holidays?

As you make your holiday gift list, take a look at what neighborhood shops and local makers have to offer. You might find a handmade mug for a coffee lover, a book recommended by someone who's read it, or a gift card to a favorite restaurant. Shopping close to home can make gift giving easier while supporting the businesses you rely on year-round.

Get personal service

Local shop owners and their staff know what's on their shelves. Tell them who you're shopping for and what you'd like to spend, and they can point you toward a gift that fits. Ask about other colors or sizes, or see whether they can set something aside while you finish your errands. If a gift needs to be exchanged, you can often talk directly with someone who can help.

Keep more money in your community

Your purchases help local businesses pay employees, restock their shelves, and cover everyday expenses. Many also buy from nearby suppliers or hire local printers, repair technicians, and other service providers. That means part of what you spend at one shop can support several businesses and the people who work there.

Cut back on shipping and packaging

Buying in person or ordering online for local pickup can eliminate the need for a separate delivery, along with the shipping box and packing materials that come with it. Pick up several gifts in one outing, or stop by a shop while you're already running errands. Bring a reusable bag if you plan to make a few stops.

This holiday season, start with the shops you already love and visit one you've been meaning to try. You may find just the right gift and discover a new favorite in your own neighborhood.

Put Some Local Culture Under the Tree!

Giving culture as a gift means creating an experience and making memories. When you share the gift of local culture, you give the recipient a chance to broaden their horizons and support our regional artists and artisans. You're also helping reduce the environmental impact of Christmas shopping. As a bonus, culture is good for the soul!

Like the idea? Consider the interests and preferences of the person you're gifting to, and explore some of these suggestions:

- Tickets to a show
- A book by a local author
- An album by a local musician
- Tickets or membership to a museum
- An original work of art
- A creation by a local artisan
- A board game designed locally
- A festival pass
- A class in an artistic activity

When you're planning your gift giving, find out about the cultural offerings in our region or in the areas where the people on your list live. By visiting local shops, galleries and businesses, you may find everything you need to make your friends and loved ones happy this Christmas.

“What do I give to that person who has everything?”

Are you still stumped about what to get for that person on your list who seems to have every item imaginable? Here are a few original ideas.

Adrenaline rush

Has this person you’re shopping for ever done something thrill-seeking, like taking a hot-air balloon ride? Have they ever experienced indoor skydiving or whitewater rafting? If you know they’re unafraid of adventure, this kind of experience is certainly an interesting option. You don’t have to book it for right away; some activities can be paid for now and scheduled later.

Tasting workshop

Wines, beers, cheeses, teas, gourmet foods —there’s no shortage of tasting workshops or tours available near you. Does the person you want to treat enjoy fine dining? Spoil them with a professional tasting experience. Even better, grab a ticket for yourself and join them on their delicious journey.

Time out

Thermal spas that alternate between saunas and cold plunges are quite popular, and for good reason. They stimulate blood circulation and promote relaxation. Local spas offer packages in enchanted settings.

Ask if they include a massage session. It’s the perfect gift for the individual who wants to de-stress.

In short, when you’re looking for a gift for someone who wants for nothing, a memorable experience makes an excellent present. Explore the many options available here in our area.

Gift wrapping for a good cause!

Are you too short on time to wrap your presents? Maybe you just don't have the skills —or the patience! You can give an extra Christmas gift this year by entrusting the task to gift-wrapping volunteers. These folks generously donate their time to wrap gifts and raise funds for community organizations.

You'll go home with beautifully wrapped gifts that are well protected from prying eyes. You'll also be contributing to a good cause during this season of giving. In short, everyone wins!

As the holidays approach, you're sure to find a group offering a wrapping service at a shopping mall near you. Why delay? Take advantage of this time saver and show your generosity!

Taking a step back

With the number of companies suffering computer glitches recently -- airlines, government agencies, hotels, banks -- it's time to take a hard look at our own security level. Even if we typically take steps to be sure we're not falling into the clutches of scammers who want our information and our money, we're in a new era now. Everything we do online and every phone call we answer needs extra scrutiny.

For example, the number of companies that have my cellphone number can be counted on the fingers of one hand. So it was surprising to get five phone calls in the space of two hours from likely scammers. I immediately opened those online accounts and deleted the phone number from their records.

At this writing, several large banks have suffered glitches, leaving customers unable to access their accounts or use the ATM. I took the step of going to my bank and withdrawing a little extra cash to buy groceries. Until all the drama of banking and other types of glitches calms down, I'm not going to use my credit card at the grocery store.

In short, I'm going to take a step back from technology, to the extent that I reasonably can.

If you want to keep track of which companies are currently experiencing computer glitches, go to downdetector.com and you'll see Most Reported Right Now.

Another site to check is Is It Down Right Now (www.isitdownrightnow.com). You can either type in the address of a website you want to check or you can scroll down to the list of websites to see if they're green (OK) or orange (not OK).

Whether they call it a cybersecurity incident, a software installation that went awry, an outage or a system error, our best bet to stay safe is to temporarily distance ourselves from the technology that can cause us harm.

Hollywood by Tony Rizzo

Another James Dean biopic is in the works! This one's based on the 2006 memoir "Surviving James Dean," which was written by his former roommate/best friend and alleged lover Bill Bast. Dean, who died tragically at 24 in a car crash in 1955, only made three major films: "East of Eden" (1955), "Rebel Without a Cause" (1955), and "Giant" (1956). He was also the first actor to ever receive a posthumous Oscar nomination -- not only once, but twice for his last two films.

James Franco received an Emmy nomination when he played Dean in the 2001 made-for-TV film adaption "James Dean," which was about Dean's career (not his sex life).

Michael Douglas and Jack Nicholson collaborated on "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" (1975), for which Douglas won an Oscar for producing and Nicholson won an Oscar for Best Actor.

James Dean

Douglas, 82, shared an update about Nicholson, 89, who retired a few years ago -- allegedly because he couldn't remember his lines anymore. "[Jack's] well," Douglas stated, "He has disappeared. ... I still see him, but he is fine. He is up there by his house and walking around in his slippers."

In 1983, I shot James "Jimmy" Stewart for his 75th birthday for Life magazine and sat in on his interview.

Jimmy related to the interviewer, "When President Warren G. Harding died in 1923, I was 15, and my dad and I walked to the train station where Harding's funeral cortege was stopping at 2 a.m. Outside the station, my dad handed me two pennies to put on the track, which the train would then run over. When we left for home, I collected the coins, which were now much bigger, and we each kept one for luck." He continued, "Later, during World War II, I was in a trench under fire and was hit by shrapnel. That oversized penny I always kept in my shirt pocket for luck deflected the shrapnel and saved my life!"

I recount more about this shoot in my forthcoming book "The Last Movie Stars." And you can learn more about Stewart in the new movie "Jimmy," which was released in November.

Here's a Tip

by JoAnn Derson

"A great addition to coffee is flavored ice cream. It adds sweetness, creaminess and a hint of something surprising. Also, it cools hot brew and puts a fancy little froth on top." -- W.L. in West Virginia

Static season is here. To calm fly-aways in static-charged hair, try these two tricks: 1. Condition your brush by soaking it in water with hair conditioner added. (Don't soak a wood-handled brush.) 2. When you're out and about, apply a little lip balm like Chapstick to your palms, then run them over your hair.

Coffee filters can be stacked between frying pans to keep them from scratching one another. This is especially true for nonstick-coated pans.

Fruit and vegetable intake is important for your nutrition. Canned fruit is good for about a year unopened and on the pantry shelf. After opening, transfer unused fruit and syrup to a container with a tight-fitting lid, refrigerate and use within a week.

3 proven ways to ruin a Christmas party

Holiday gatherings are meaningful occasions for fun and sharing, but certain inappropriate behaviors can ruin a party. Avoid doing these three things at your Christmas get-togethers.

Raising sensitive topics

To preserve that harmonious spirit among friends and family, avoid discussing hot-button topics. Whether it's religion, politics, a messy breakup, a recent layoff or a significant weight gain, bringing up certain subjects can quickly cast a shadow over a gathering that's meant to be festive.

Excessive intoxication

It's common to raise a glass over the holidays. Moderate drinking is acceptable, but overindulgence is far less so. It's well known that alcohol and drugs such as cannabis lower inhibitions and impair judgment. The risk is very real that someone will behave inappropriately or that a situation will get out of hand.

Giving tasteless gifts

Don't give gifts related to a person's physical appearance or that are too personal in nature, such as a bathroom scale, concealer or intimate items. To avoid offending them and ruining their day, stick to safe choices.

Strange But True

Russia made such highly detailed maps of the Canadian Arctic during the Cold War that ships still use them today, even preferring them to current Canadian maps.

A scientific reconstruction of the face of St. Nicholas, the inspiration for our modern Santa Claus, revealed a broken nose believed to have been received while Christians were suffering persecution under the Roman emperor Diocletian.

A pine cone can stay attached to its tree for 10 or more years before finally dropping.

The earliest recorded use of fireworks dates to China in 200 B.C., when people would roast bamboo stalks until the air inside them sizzled and exploded. The resulting pop was believed to frighten away evil spirits and usher in happiness and luck.

Microbiologists have identified air blown from a vacuum cleaner as one of the five places in the home with the highest number of germs.

VETERAN'S POST by Freddy Groves

Need a job?

A recent lawsuit was filed that brings to light a certain fact that many of us do not know. That is, when filing an initial claim with the VA, veterans are not allowed to pay for legal help.

The lawsuit seeks to ban the VA from enforcing the rules that require accreditation of anyone helping a veteran to file and that bar the payment of fees for that service.

The company bringing the suit says they don't actually represent the veteran; instead, they provide the tools for the veteran to do it himself. They charge a flat fee and have a money back guarantee if benefits don't actually increase, as well as a bonus of $500.

Veterans can, however, pay to hire someone to help with claims that have been denied or decisions that are being appealed, any step after the initial filing. Choices for help are a VA-accredited Veterans Service Organization (VSO), an attorney or a claims agent authorized by the VA.

There are strict rules about who can legally help. Among other rules:

- They must be accredited.
- The fee must be reasonable.
- Maximum fee allowed is 20% of any back pay that's to be awarded. If back pay isn't enough to cover the fees, the VA will pay the difference.

We like to believe the VA has the protection of veterans at the core of everything they do, hence their refusal to allow just anybody to take money from a veteran who's filing an initial claim. That is why they want to see the passing of the GUARD VA Benefits Act, which has been stuck in Congress in the Introduced stage since February 2025.

If passed, the Act would reinstate the criminal penalties on unaccredited people who take unauthorized claims fees from veterans. Those criminal penalties were deleted in 2006 when the rules were rewritten, leaving the VA with no recourse all these years except to send out sternly worded letters to the thieves who were stealing from veterans.

HLAA
Hearing Loss Association of America
West Valley Chapter

Struggling with Hearing Loss? We Can Help.

You're invited! The Hearing Loss Association of America (HLAA) West Valley Chapter is a dedicated, all-volunteer support group committed to helping people with hearing loss. At each meeting we share helpful tips and hear from experts such s audiologists, ENT's, psychologists, and technology experts. We have been helping people like you in the West Valley for over a decade.

Monthly meetings are held in a spacious room with captioned visual presentations and Auracast, a new Bluetooth technology that streams directly into your Auracast compatible hearing devices. You won't miss a word. Come and feel at ease knowing you will be able to understand what is being presented.

Meetings are held from October through May and provide presentations by experts on a wide variety of hearing loss topics, such as tinnitus, balance issues, and ototoxicity. Learn advocating tips and discover technology that will help you understand conversation and fill in the missing gaps. Other topics include managing relationships, and accommodations you can request for things like doctor appointments and jury duty.

Before our monthly expert speaker, the chapter also hosts a 45 minute "Tech Time" session where you can learn how to use your smart phone to help you hear and understand speech better. We demonstrate different apps, and show how to use other accessible features native to your phone. Additionally we answer questions about your hearing aid or cochlear implants manufacturer's app. You will take home practical tips that make living life with hearing loss easier. We look forward to welcoming you.

WHO: Hearing Loss Association of America
West Valley Chapter

WHAT: Monthly support and educational meetings for people with hearing loss

WHEN: Second Tuesday of the Month

Add "safe ride home" to your holiday wish list!

As you're making your list and checking it twice, don't forget to include safe travel plans in your preparations. Whether you designate a driver, hire a limo or stay at a hotel near the party venue, planning ahead will help you make the most of the festivities and give your loved ones peace of mind.

We wish you a happy and safe holiday season!

Celebrate? Yes! Risk a life? NEVER!

Alcohol, drugs and driving: don't underestimate their effects, don't overestimate your abilities

From holiday parties to family dinners across the valley, the holidays bring plenty of chances to celebrate. If alcohol or cannabis is part of your plans, decide how you'll get home before you head out. It's easier to arrange a ride while you're getting ready than to make that decision at the end of the night.

How impairment affects driving

Alcohol can impair coordination, distort your sense of distance, and affect your judgment. THC, the main psychoactive compound in cannabis, can slow reaction time and make it harder to concentrate. Those effects matter when traffic stops suddenly, a pedestrian steps into a crosswalk, or you need to merge onto the freeway. You can feel fine and still be too impaired to drive safely.

Make a plan before you celebrate

- Choose a designated driver who will stay sober throughout the event.
- Arrange a taxi or rideshare, or check Valley Metro routes and schedules before you leave.
- If you're celebrating at someone's home, ask ahead of time if you can stay overnight.
- If your plans change, leave your car parked and call for a ride. You can pick it up later.

Q: When is "The Pitt" coming back for its next season? I can't wait! -- T.S.

A: The Emmy-Award-winning (11 trophies so far) HBO medical drama returns for its third season in January 2027. A specific date hasn't been announced.

Noah Wyle in "The Pitt"

The season takes place during one shift, with each episode representing one grueling hour of the shift. This year, the forecast strongly points to snow or at least parkas worn over scrubs with the shift starting on Nov. 12, 2026, four months after Dr. Michael "Robby" Robinavitch's (Noah Wyle) much-needed sabbatical. Dr. Robby has been ready to snap for two seasons now. Will we see a post-ayahuasca, relaxed and chill chief of emergency medicine upon his return?

Q: I read that Scott Speedman is going to be joining "Landman." Does this mean that "RJ Decker" has been canceled? -- R.B.

A: With all the options that are available on streaming, cable and network television, you'll see more and more actors booking roles on multiple series within the same year. The very long breaks between filming also contribute to this.

While Scott Speedman and his cast members wait for ABC to renew or cancel "RJ Decker," he's booked a guest-starring role on the upcoming season of Paramount+'s hit show "Landman." It's also helpful to know that Speedman has juggled roles before. He still recurs on "Grey's Anatomy" as Dr. Nick Marsh while starring in "RJ Decker."

Celebrate the Holidays With Less Waste

Between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day, U.S. household waste is estimated to rise by about 25%. A few simple swaps can cut down on what you throw away while keeping gifts, gatherings, and decorations festive.

Wrap With What You Have

Wrap gifts in scarves, fabric scraps, old maps, or newspaper. Reusable bags and tins work well, too, and grocery bags make fun wrapping paper when decorated with hand-drawn designs. If you buy gift wrap, look for recycled content and skip foil, glitter, and plastic coatings. Check whether your local recycling program accepts plain wrapping paper, and save tissue paper for another gift.

Keep Gifts and Gatherings Simple

Choose gifts with minimal packaging, and check which types of plastic your local recycling program accepts. For holiday meals, borrow extra plates and silverware, pick up inexpensive sets at a thrift store, or invite guests to bring their own plates. If you use compostable tableware, first confirm that your local composting program accepts it.

Give Decorations a Second Life

Look for local recycling options for your cut tree. If you're retiring an artificial tree in good condition, ask a charity, school, or community group if they can use it. Take broken string lights to local electronics or scrap facilities. For natural decorations like wreaths and pinecones, remove bows, wire, and glitter before composting.

RECIPE by Donna Erickson

Holiday Leftovers Sandwich

INGREDIENTS

1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
12 slices multigrain bread
26 ounces cooked turkey breast, sliced
1 cup cranberry sauce
1 1/4 cups cooked turkey stuffing
1 cup shredded iceberg lettuce
Salt and pepper

Serves 6

DIRECTIONS

Mix the mayonnaise and Dijon mustard. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Spread half of the mayonnaise mixture on one side of each slice of bread.

Divide the turkey slices among six slices of bread.

Add the cranberry sauce. Top the cranberry sauce with the stuffing.

Add the lettuce and spoon the remaining mayonnaise mixture on top.

Top the sandwiches with the remaining slices of bread. Cut in half and serve immediately.
